Twirled for Barre A. C. to
3 to 2 Victory over a
Hanover Team

SHARP CONTEST WENT 10 INNINGS

Large Crowd Dedicated the New B. A. C. Grounds
at Trotting Park

It took 10 innings for the Barre Athletics to establish their supremacy over the All-Collegians of Hanover, N. H., at the Ayers street grounds Saturday afternoon. When stakes were pulled for the day the count was 3 to 2, but it was not until the very threshold of the 10th had been reached that the home towners were able to put themselves firmly, permanently, unalterably and irrevocably in the lead. That an extra chapter should have to be written for the delectation of a big gallery of fans was highly fitting indeed, for the game was a game battle which the teams put up. Time and time again during the eight innings that the contest essence, a quadruple slap would have put the game on the street called Easy for whosoever should happen to lose the ball long enough to negotiate the entire circuit.

Opposing pitchers, like the colored troops at Gettysburg, behaved gallantly, but it can't be said that the fire from the plate was ever galling and as a matter of fact it was the athletic forces that really deserved the V. C. for standing up to the rack when a withering rifle fire from Speare and Willard was mowing down so many of them.

(Business of stalling the wartime metaphor and turning again to the w. k. national pastime.)

Seasons come and go without uncovering a better matched pair of twirlers than Speare and Willard. The Vermont boy had the edge on his adversary in keeping the hits down, but the strikeout honors and the passes were divided on the same popular 50-50 basis. Extra base allowances were dispensed by Willard in two instances, but Speare kept the five hits charged against him better distributed and nearer home. Willard, an angular fellow who has weathered many stiff prep. school struggles, seemed to have shot his bolt when the crash came, although Speare, having girded on his armor with the intention of staying until Sunday noon if necessary, was getting in his best licks toward the finish.

Tight fielding, a minimum of hits, big or little, and a fine display of grit on both sides featured the game. First-inning scores for both teams were in the nature of dispensations. Gioia, first up for New Hampshire, fanned, but Laperriere was compensated for getting the pellet in the side by a complimentary ticket to first. Black sacrificed him to third, after he had passed the second pivot on a passed ball, and the score came when the ball bounded past Fowle to the net. Two men were down when Johnston got a life at first on Scully's poor catch, stole second and came home when Jones, laying down a loose one, roosted on first for the reason that Duhamel shot the ball far over Scully's head. Jones ended the inning when Willard caught him minus his toe hole on first.

Through six innings the scoring chances were infrequent. In the eighth Duhamel nicked the ball for a double to center, went to third on Sturt's sacrifice and counted when Bill Johnston duplicated the double-play performance. Bill, however, tried to elasticize his double into a triple, with the result that he suffered an ignominious end at third. His two-sacker was a potential score had it ended there, for Jones slapped out a pretty single, only to die at first as A. Fowle fanned. Peduzzi's counter should have settled matters preposterously had it not been for Catcher Fowle's lustrous exhibition in the ninth.

Evidently bent on getting a quick verdict, Speare fanned the first two batters in the ninth when Duhamel singled to center. He advanced to third on Hale's single and evened the score when Braver attempted to catch the runner at third. It was an indifferent display of generalship, but the tossed ball cannot be recalled. Wacker whiffed out and though the collegians made a desperate stand in the 10th it was without avail. Just before the curtain went down Speare hit safely, negotiated second and scored when Duhamel, grabbing Peduzzi's short-time bomb, winged the ball over first base into the meadow. brand of the national pastime throughout the summer, the success of its Ayers street venture is assured.
Saturday was a rare June day—for June.

Also for baseball.
Speare was the whole works in the sixth. He picked a hot liner off the bat and doubled it to Fowle at first. Afterward he caught Black napping at third. Hale pulled down a couple of hard ones in the third and fifth.

Duhamel won his spurs on the gridiron at Dartmouth last autumn.

Scully and Angell have performed capably in the Dartmouth freshman outfit this season.

The new skinned diamond needs water and a dash of oil, mayhap.
Although flashes of team work and a few hair-raising individual plays were uncovered, the Athletics need the fine finish that comes only with daily grilling.

Many of the fans sought refuge from the sun in the grandstand across the track.

Brave Fowle took a baseball player's chance when he slipped the ball to second in the ninth. His judgment was quite questionable, but his teammates were not disheartened.

Something is always taking the joy out of life.
As well be a useless throw as anything.

The Vermont hurler would look well as a fixture in the B. A. C. lineup. He can field well in the big tent and bats better than the average pitcher.

He is still a free lance so far as summer baseball is concerned.

Jones had a Jonah day at shortstop, but retrieved himself with a healthy swing in the eighth.

Sadly enough, every one of the five runs, barring the tally that followed a tidy bundle of safe ones in the eighth, was due in part to flukes.

Willard pulled out of an uncomfortable hole in the sixth. With the paths stretching out before three base runners, the lanky youth from over the river sent two B. A. C. batsmen to the stalls.

To the first B. A. C. batsman who winged the ball into the river, the management offers as a premium, a choice between a handsome ornate gold bust of Ty Cobb and a free trip to University City and the P. P. I. exposition at 'Frisco.

This is the next to the last exposure. Choose your bats for the great trip to 'Frisco contest.

MONTPELIER SEM. AN EASY WINNER

Defeated Randolph High School 10 to 6 in the Former's Final Game of the Season.

Montpelier seminary baseball team closed its season at its campus Saturday by winning a game from Randolph high school by the score of 10 to 6. The first part of the game was well played by each team, going along until the seventh inning with a small score of two each, but in that inning the visitors "blew," resulting in the seminary securing five tallies. They almost repeated in the eighth, adding three more to the seminary's score. In the last inning the seminary allowed Randolph to score three runs.

Hay had the Randolph team at his mercy all of the time excepting when he pitched a little in the eighth inning, allowing Thayer to secure a double. Parcer played a fast game at second. His catch in the fourth inning was a beauty. Having gone well back in center field, he jumped into the air, knocking down the ball and landing it in his other hand. Stockwell's slow out "pulled" the seminary team at times in bad shape. Walbridge got a nice three-bagger in the fifth inning which netted a run when Adams allowed a passed ball. He was able to connect with Stockwell's curves each time he came to bat, getting three safe ones. Angel of Randolph got a nice two-bagger in the fourth inning, but it profited him nothing, for the next two men were easy outs.

The seminary played as pretty a game as they have shown on the local campus this year and would have piled up the score higher had they run bases in better shape. The Randolph team was pretty sure at throwing and therefore caught the local players when the batters tried to sacrifice. The summary:

ST. JOHNSBURY GOT NO SCORE

While Spaulding High Was Piling Up a Total of Twelve

FIRST-CLASS GAME BY HIGH SCHOOL

Visitors Were Weak in the Box and Shaky in Fielding

Spaulding high school's baseball nine ended their schedule in a whirlwind, winning the last seven games played, and the last one being a shut-out for the St. Johnsbury academy at the Lincoln campus Saturday afternoon by a score of 12 to 0. The game was Spaulding's all the way through, and they did not let the academy boys get any further than first base except once, when Clark got around to third on two sacrifice hits, but the third sacrificed in the same way as did the first two and it did no good, as it made the third out.

Baseball in its true form is what the Spaulding men put up, but the St. Johnsbury team was full of blunders and could not wield the stick or play the game in the field as did the high school nine. Only one slip was made by the Spaulding men all through the game, and that was when Smith let a little grounder slip through, but Sector was behind him, and the man only got first. Others on the team were in fine fettle and played like professionals.

Captain Gordon, who has been playing consistent ball all the season, proved himself a wizard at the wind-up. He has been hitting the ball all the season and doing some fine work for the team, and Saturday he ended up by getting a home run and a single. He beat out the ball on the third strike when the catcher dropped it, and he scored three runs; or each time he got on, he scored.

Only two safe singles were smashed out against Oliver and both were singles. Other balls were knocked out into the field, but eight men were backing him up and no others could get safe.

The academy team sent Gallagher into the box to twirl against Spaulding Saturday. For two innings he held the high school men scoreless. In the third he blew up. With no men out, Spaulding tried a new stunt. After Ricciardielli was given a free pass on balls, orders were given for bases. Another free pass was given, and then four little bunts into the infield was what gave the high school their start with six runs.

Then Vitty, who was so invincible against the Montpelier seminary the day before, was called upon to stop the Spaulding rally. Not much better than his mate Gallagher did he prove to be. Three hits were pounded out against him, and one of these was a home run and one a double. In the five innings of his pitching he struck out but four men. In every inning after the second, Spaulding's opponents were unable to stop them from scoring. It was baseball, and good baseball, on the part of the high school, that enabled them to run up such a score against St. Johnsbury.

AGAIN WINNER OVER I.A.C., 4-2

Godard Defeated Locals on Saturday in Interest-

SCHOOL BOYS HIT
THE BALL VERY HARD

Both Sides Put Up a Fine Game of Ball in the Field

A very interesting game of baseball was that played between Goddard seminary and the Italian Athletic club Saturday afternoon at the Berlin street grounds, and the seminary team emerged a winner for the third time this season against the same team, and by the score of 4 to 2.

Both teams did some hard slugging, and scarcely an inning passed without somebody clouting out a hit. Eleven safe ones, all singles, were hit out against Weaferi, and eight safe ones, not all singles, were binged out against Davidson, who was in the box for Goddard.

Witt and Connor were the heavy sluggers for Goddard, as each got three hits out of four times at bat. Every other man except Fiske, who was only at bat twice, and Keefe, were able to hit Weaferi. The fielding of both teams was excellent. Goddard had the honor of not having a single error, and only one was placed against the Italians. That was in the second inning, when David let a little bingle of Keefe's through his fingers, and it was a costly one, as he later scored after being advanced on a hit and crossing home plate when Connolly dropped the ball.

The way the teams got their men on bases and the way the bases were run made it very interesting for the spectators. Bases being given on balls, hits and stealing bases made the game one worthy of watching, and no walk-away for either side also helped out in giving interest.
